U. S. THREATENS BAN ON JAP GOLD

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today the Treasury was studying means of backing up Secretary Hull's termination of the Japanese commercial treaty by action involving United States purchases of Japanese gold, silver and merchandise.

Morgenthau explained that the announcement of abrogation came before he had time to decide his course of action, but "since reporters are asking me about it, of course I will look into it."

He gave no hint of what kind of action could be taken.

It is known that, for one thing, the Treasury is studying alleged Japanese subsidies of cotton cloth exports to the United States with a view to imposing penalty tariff duties against the cloth.

Termination of the 1911 treaty of commerce and navigation was made public late last night by the state department. This cleared the way toward an embargo, or other possible economic action, against Japan.

Expiration would come on January 26. Thus when Congress meets in January it may proceed with legislation for an embargo on the shipment of raw materials to Japan, any legal obstacle having been removed by cessation of the treaty.

Morgenthau's press conference statement indicated some move by the executive branch of the government was possible before that.

The Treasury has a potentially more potent weapon in its gold and silver buying policies.

In the last two years, Japan has sold the Treasury $415,209,648 worth of gold and $4,202,856 worth of silver.

BUYS WAR SUPPLIES

Even though Japan might be barred from the purchase of war materials in this country, the dollars it receives by these sales of precious metals furnishes important resources for the purchase of materials elsewhere in the world where American currency may be preferred to Japanese money.

Hull's action, announced last night several hours after the Japanese embassy here had been notified, swept the capital with surprise. It followed by two days Great Britain's agreement with Japan recognizing the Tokyo government's "special requirements" in China.

It followed by only a few hours the decision of the Senate foreign relations committee to defer consideration of the Vandenberg resolution calling on the government to terminate the treaty.

EMBARGO MUST STOP

Hull, through his note, opened the way for the committee chairman, Senator Pittman (D.) of Nevada to obtain action at the next session on the embargo resolution, which he recently introduced.

The United States is Japan's principal source of war materials, and Pittman would exclude only agricultural products from the embargo.

Pittman said of Hull's note:

"I think it's a wise and justifiable act."

Senator Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan said he was "very glad" to find

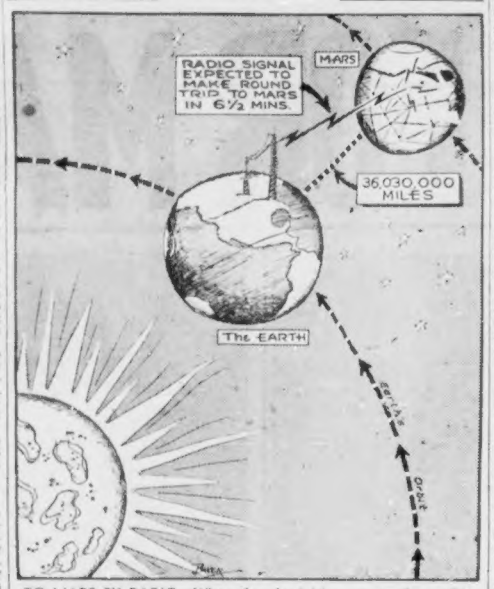
RADIO 'PROGRAM' FOR MARS



TO MARS BY RADIO—When the planet Mars approaches within 36,000,000 miles of the earth tonight radio messages will be sent out to the imagined inhabitants. Round trip of the ether waves will take 6½ minutes . . . at 186,000 miles per second.

Powerful U. S. Radio To Tune In on Mars

In one of the strangest and most dramatic experiments ever sponsored by modern science, the planet Earth will attune a radio "ear" tonight to listen for a possible communication from Mars, its next door neighbor in the solar system.

Nearer than it has been since 1924 and nearer than it will be again until 1956, the mysterious "canal"-marked red orb in the southern sky will be a mere 36,000,000 miles distant at its moment of closest approach, some time in the next 24 hours.

At that time and for a period before and after it, Radio Station WOR, New York, one of the most powerful in the world, will focus 40 directional receiving antennae on Mars and will suspend all broadcasting and other activities while trained experts seek to detect intelligible signals, however faint, vibrating through inter-planetary space.

For centuries, mankind has speculated about the physical conditions on Mars and about the possibility of life akin to that here existing there.

Recurrently, ambitious plans have been formulated for signalling the neighbor planet.

Far older than Earth, astronomically speaking, it must be inhabited, if at all, by a race of super-beings, enormously more advanced than Earth beings in civilization and scientific attainment, backers of the life-on-Mars theory have agreed.

They have advanced the hypothesis that the Martians probably attempted aeons ago to communicate with the Earth.

Receiving no response and uncertain if life existed here, they perhaps abandoned the experiment or continued it in desultory fashion, according to this novel theory.

But tonight, as never before, the

Here's How You Will See Mars If You're Lucky

To look for Mars tonight, as the red neighbor planet comes its nearest in three decades, try to find a vantage point on some hill or other elevation facing south.

Mars will rise above the southern horizon about 10 p. m. It will be highest and most visible between midnight and 1 a. m.

You can readily identify it, for, unless obscured by clouds or haze, it will be the brightest object in the heavens, excepting only the moon.

Its rust-red color is a further identifying characteristic.

Strong field glasses or a small telescope will help your observations.

Boston-N. Y. Liner, Fishing Boat Crash In Fog; One Injured

Creeping along in an early morning fog off Humarock buoy, a 51-foot fishing dragger was in collision today with the liner New York, of the Eastern Steamship lines.

The deck house on the fishing boat was toppled over in the crash, falling on one of the crew, and injuring him seriously.

Capt. Louis J. Breckenbridge reported the liner, inbound from New York with 390 passengers, was proceeding slowly through the haze when the faint sound of a fog horn was heard.

The next moment, he said, the dragger nosed out of the fog bank. The liner's helm was put "hard over," and the fishing craft veered, too, but not in time to prevent the collision.

PASSENGERS LINE RAILS

The dragger struck the starboard bow of the liner, just in front of the bridge, and liner's railing was slightly damaged, Captain Breckenbridge reported.

All passengers were aroused and lined the rails as the two boats drifted in the haze. Seeing the injured fisherman prostrate on the deck, Captain Breckenbridge ordered a boat over the side, and the injured man was taken aboard the liner for hospital treatment.

The injured man is Carlo Calistero, 48, of Fleet street, North End, father of 11 children. He was attended aboard ship by Dr. Frank Foster, a New Jersey physician and a passenger.

Doctor Foster reported Calistero had apparently suffered fracture of one or more ribs and that his lung may have been punctured.

He was taken to the Marine Hospital, Chelsea, by ambulance, when the liner reached port.

AIDED BACK TO PORT

The steering gear of the dragger, which is owned by Carlo Marino of Pearl street, Chelsea, was damaged and a Coast Guard patrol boat from Point Allerton put out to assist it back to T Wharf.

Marino was not aboard the dragger, which was under command of Capt. Accursio Scarfani. Others in the crew of seven are Peter, Michael and Tony Scarfani, all of Chelsea; Accursio and Michael Marino and the injured Calistero.

The liner was late in docking because of the accident.

CLOUDS GIVE HOPE DROUTH NEAR END

Low clouds (rain) and no clouds (sun) intermittently harassed New England today—the harass dependent upon vacation (low clouds) and the crop and forest fire danger (no clouds).

Thunder showers again were forecast by the weather bureau—if and when!

Crops are imperilled and need at least three days of rain, according to federal experts, while in Massachusetts and New Hampshire mountainside forest fires raged, fought by volunteers and CCC campers.

Firemen worked for three hours to check one blaze on the Concord estate of Charles Francis Adams, former Secretary of the Navy.

Two of the fires, one in New Hampshire, the other in Massachusetts, have assumed serious proportions.

More than a dozen men have suffered burns and other injuries as a volunteer fire fighting force of 300 battled a still uncontrolled fire which spread across a mile long front on Mt. Everett in Great Barrington, the second largest peak in Massachusetts.

Thunder showers predicted for today may aid in halting the flames.

District Fire Warden Charles J. Glavin declared there is no hope of saving hundreds of acres of timberland without rain.

The New Hampshire fire is at Evans Notch in Chatham,

Wires Laud Rescued Boy for His Courage

BANGOR, Me., July 27—From a hundred different cities a stream of congratulatory telegrams poured into the Eastern Maine General Hospital room of Donn Fendler today, words of praise for his cool bravery in winning an eight-day battle over the dangers of exposure and starvation.

There was new brightness in the New York Boy Scout's eye as he was permitted to sit up in bed after a solid night's sleep.

Over the foot of the bed was draped a ragged piece of burlap, which was his only protection from cold and vicious insects during the long nights of his 35-mile wanderings.

"I wouldn't part with it for a million dollars," Donn declared.

MEETS FATHER

At his bedside were his mother and father, helping read the scores of messages which arrive every few minutes.

Among the notes was an invitation from Harry E. Burroughs, founder of the camp for Boston newsboys which bears his name, extending the hospitality of the Burroughs Foundation at West Poland to Donn and his parents.

Burroughs wrote to the boy that his visit would "inspire 500 other boys with his resourcefulness and self-reliance."

When the 12-year-old Boy Scout was brought into the hospital on a wheel chair, after a 100-mile canoe and ambulance trip from Nelson McMoarn's camp, it was the first time he had seen his father since the day he disappeared.

Baby Girl Saved By Chinese Hero Arrives in U. S.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 27—The wonders of the vast, friendly American continent were revealed today for the first time to five-year-old Helen Priscilla Stam, for whom a Chinese died so that she might live.

Born in China, daughter of missionary parents from Holyoke, Mass., she was an infant when Communist bandits murdered her mother and father in cold blood.

She escaped death through a strange series of adventures and now is en route to her new home in the United States.

The child arrived in Vancouver from the Orient aboard the Empress of China and was accompanied by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Scott of Princeton, N. J. She is now on the way to their home.

PLEA SAVES LIFE

It was in December, 1934, when Helen was only three months old, that a bandit gang looted the city of Tsingteh and kidnaped John C. Stam and his young wife, both former residents of Holyoke.

J. C. Stam

A few days later, the young couple were slaughtered. The bandit chief gave orders to slay the baby but just as the executioners brought a knife to her throat, a Chinese who had been set free by the Communists pleaded for the infant's life.

"Don't harm an innocent babe like this—she has done no harm to you or any of us," he begged. "Who are you to intercede like this?" the Communist officer demanded.

When the Chinese said he did not know the Americans, but dreaded to see the baby die, the Communist asked if he would be brave enough to forfeit his own life for the sake of the child.

BABY FOUND SAFE

The released prisoner readily agreed and was killed on the spot.

Three days later, government troops drove the bandits away. On a public execution ground were found the bodies of the missionaries and the Chinese, but no sign of the baby.

More days passed, then a squad of soldiers heard a baby's wails coming from the ruins of an Anhwei house.

Tenderly guarded by the troops, little Helen was carried to the Wuhu mission headquarters, to be cared for in the hospital there.

Soon the baby's fame spread throughout eastern China. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott, took her to their home in Tsinanfu, Shantung, where adoring children named her Bao Pei—"Precious Babe."

WIFE SIPS POISON, LEAPS TO DEATH

SPRINGFIELD, July 27—After complaining she was unable to sleep, Mrs. Edward J. Morneau of Carew street, 26-year-old blonde, drank a quantity of poison and then plunged to death today from a third floor window of her home, according to police.

Dr. Charles J. Downey, medical examiner, who pronounced her a suicide, said she had been under treatment for the past three months for a nervous disorder.

BROTHER SEES LEAP

Her 40-foot plunge to death came as her brother, Paul, 39, awoke and, seeing her poised on the ledge of his bedroom window, cried:

"Stop! Don't jump!"

Paul, Mrs. Morneau's husband and another brother ran from the house and picked up her crumpled, unconscious form, then rushed her to Springfield hospital.

In her plunge to the ground her body struck a clothesline, twisting her so that her head struck the earth first.

She died at the hospital an hour after being admitted. Death was caused by skull and hip fractures and internal injuries.

Before death came she told physicians she had swallowed the poison previous to going to her brothers' third-floor bedroom.

WAS UNABLE TO SLEEP

Police Capt. Daniel F. McCarthy said Morneau told him he and his wife had been out last evening, returning about 10:30 p. m. to retire for the night.

At midnight, he said, she awakened him and said she was unable to sleep.

He told McCarthy he remained awake for about two hours and then dropped off to sleep.

Two hours later his wife arose, walked to the bathroom and swallowed the poison. She then went to the bedroom where her brothers were sleeping.

She removed the screen and crouched on the window ledge, clad only in her nightgown, when her brother Paul awoke.

The couple had no children.

BEAL CONFIRMED IN CALLAHAN JOB; GOODWIN TO STAY

In special session today, Governor Saltonstall's executive council voted unanimously to confirm appointment of John H. Beal of Hanover, as commissioner of public works to succeed William F. Callahan, ousted yesterday by a 6-3 vote.

Confirmation was voted under suspension of the rules requested by Gov. Saltonstall and came without any discussion.

Callahan meanwhile continued his preparations to carry his fight against the ouster to the Supreme Judicial Court, on the ground that evidence did not warrant his removal.

Beal, sworn into office soon after the confirmation, went at once to the public works building, accompanied by Daniel J. Lynch, the governor's legislative secretary.

There he relieved State Police Lieut. Inspector Theodore Johnson, the governor's personal bodyguard, who had taken possession of the department yesterday immediately after the ouster vote.

JOB FOR NELSON

Reports that Elmer C. Nelson, of Milford, "mystery man" of the administration, would soon be named either to succeed Beal or to a high post in the department, gained added credence today with a statement from the governor.

"I asked Mr. Beal to take the office as a public service to straighten out the situation in the department for me," the governor said. "I can truthfully say he took the job at a personal sacrifice.

"I assume he will want to go back to his business before a great deal of time."

Saltonstall emphasized that there would be no wholesale discharges in the department. Motor Vehicle Registrar Frank A. Goodwin seemed likely to retain his post in view of the Saltonstall statement he would "use his influence" with Beal to retain Goodwin.

Callahan's ouster was brought to a climax as the council session was called to order and the governor's formal request for "consent and advice" of the council for removal of the public works head was read.

Voices raised in anger, and sound of fists banging on tables, and a gavel falling sharply were heard frequently for two hours of stormy debate before the session adjourned and it was announced that the vote for removal had been 6 to 3.

COAKLEY EXPLAINS

Daniel H. Coakley, lone Democrat in the council, who criticized the Callahan removal bitterly as "partisan politics," defended his vote for Beal's confirmation on the ground he was fitted for the post.

"I voted against the Callahan removal because it was purely political," he said. "The issue was whether he was fit to remain in office and I believe he was.

"I have no personal feeling against Mr. Beal and I voted for him because I believe he is fitted for the post. Because I voted against the Callahan ousting is no reason why I should vote against the Beal confirmation."

Beal Quit College To Help Educate Kin

John H. Beal, who became head of the Massachusetts Public Works department today with the responsibility of handling millions of dollars, was revealed for the first time as a man who left college so his brothers could be educated.

Beal's confirmation brought into the hands of Massachusetts' first Republican administration in eight years control of the state's biggest spending department.

To Beal will fall the huge task of directing the department's policies, mapping out projects, maintaining the state's network of bridges and highways and adding to it, and improving the department's efficiency. Governor Saltonstall, in praising Beal's "business ability, integrity and forcefulness," revealed the new commissioner left college to help others in his family through school.

Guard Chamberlain From Irish Bombers

LONDON, July 27 (AP)—Scotland Yard put Prime Minister Chamberlain and other cabinet members under special guard today, held three men for examination and questioned scores in a search for terrorists following yesterday's series of five bombings.

The explosions, in which one life was lost, occurred as the House of Commons adopted drastic measures to combat the outlawed Irish Republican army.

Extraordinary precautions were in force today at all railroad stations, including two where bombings occurred in the last 24 hours.

The houses of Parliament and the British Museum were the objects of closest scrutiny.

Afternoon newspapers said Scotland Yard was looking for "a man with a slouch" who was believed seen at Kings Cross station just before an explosion there with one and perhaps two companions.

Authorities said the explosions were in line with an I. R. A. "Plan S," which Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare described to the House of Commons Monday as calling for wrecking of key industries, blasting of parliament buildings and pollution of water supplies.

The most serious bombing yesterday was at busy Kings Cross station, where Donal Campbell, Edinburgh University lecturer on his way home from a Paris honeymoon with his bride of a few months, lost his life.

Mrs. Campbell was injured seriously. In all, 15 were injured there and five at Victoria station in a later explosion.

Britain Distributes Wartime Food Tracts

LONDON, July 27 (AP)—Postmen today started distributing 15,000,000 copies of "Your Food in Wartime," a leaflet telling families how and what to store and urging storekeepers to increase stocks "so far as they can."

The government warns of ironclad rationing of meat, bacon, ham, sugar, butter, margarine and cooking fats if a war starts.

N.H. RAIL PROBE IS FAVORED

Investigation of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and all of its subsidiaries—including the Old Colony lines, scheduled to abandon passenger service to the whole of the Southeastern Massachusetts on Sept. 24—was recommended today by the Legislature committee on transportation.

The inquiry, sought by Governor Saltonstall in a special message on July 10, will go into the following elements in the present controversy:

1—Charges by Attorney General Paul A. Dever and his assistant, Edward H. Peece, that the railroad falsified accounts in an effort to show that the Old Colony had been operated at a deficit of $14,000,000 since 1935.

2. Charges that the New Haven is trying to force the sale to it cheaply of the Boston & Providence lines, 1 bright-of-way between Providence and Boston.

3. Charges that it has failed to pay its own just share of operating costs within the state by using the Boston & Providence lines, thus evading upkeep charges for South Station.

4—Charges that abandonment of passenger service on the Old Colony—the railroad proposes to keep the profitable freight business in operation—is really a plan by the railroad's trustees in bankruptcy to force the state and the communities affected to grant it a subsidy to continue passenger operations.

Plan Mercy Plea For Doomed Pair

In a last effort to save the lives of Walter St. Sauveur, 19, and Wallace Green, 21, doomed slayers of a Somerville storekeeper, attorneys completed arrangements today for a mercy plea before Governor Saltonstall.

The youths are scheduled to die next week, probably Monday night, for killing Henry Phillips during a holdup in May, 1937.

Two respites have been granted the pair pending repairing of the electric chair at State prison.

Attys. Robert McCarthy and George B. Lourie, representing the pair, said they would ask the governor to commute the sentences to life imprisonment.

CIO's Lewis Lashes Garner As 'Evil Old Man, Labor Foe'

WASHINGTON, July 27 (INS)—In a startling pronouncement before the House labor committee, John L. Lewis, CIO leader, today denounced Vice-President Garner as a "poker-playing, whisky-drinking, evil old man" who is fighting organized labor.

Lewis, frankly admitting himself to be in a belligerent mood, declared he would fight Garner's presidential candidacy and he flayed the Texan as an enemy of labor.

"Some people may rise up in horror and say that John L. Lewis is making a personal attack on Mr. Garner," the labor leader told the committee.

"Yes—I am making a personal attack on him. I am against him personally, concretely and in the abstract.

"I am against him in 1939 and I am against him in 1940, when he will run for president."

Lewis' outburst came during his appearance in opposition to proposed amendments to the wage-hours act. Not only did he assail Garner, but he unleashed a broadside at Republicans and "about 100 conservative Democrats" in the House as "renegades who are doing a war dance in the well of the House over the prostrate form of labor."

It was at this point that he launched into his tirade against the Vice-President. Speaking with great emphasis and deliberation, Lewis drawled:

"Now, turning to the other end of the Capitol, we find the United States Senate, headed by a poker-playing, whisky-drinking, evil old man who would destroy labor."

NO FRIEND OF LABOR

As labor committee members and spectators edged forward in their chairs—two or three of them stood up in astonishment—Lewis then made his declaration that he was making a "personal" attack on Garner and wanted it to be understood as such.

"He may represent the banks and corporations in which he has an interest, but he is no friend of labor," Lewis declared.

"I say that when he runs for President as a candidate seeking to debase labor, he will be defeated."

Not only Garner and the House Conservative coalition, but Wage Hours Administrator Elmer F. Andrews felt the lash of the stocky labor chieftain's tongue. He asserted that he believed Andrews had "erred" when he proposed to Congress the wage-hours act be liberalized.

"He who did this,' Lewis declared, "must certainly have known that he was about to open the floodgates to propaganda and the sinister influences of selfish interests.

LASHES FOES IN HOUSE

"Why, of course, the Amalgamated Association of Porch Climbers and Sneak Thieves would like to get together and have laws affecting them amended."

Launching his attack on House Republicans and conservative Democrats, Lewis minced no words. He pictured them as "whirling like dervishes in their greed" over the defeats they have administered to labor.

Lewis then concluded:

"I object to Mr. Garner when he seeks to hang upon the neck of labor these proposals. Let Congress find a way to employ the 12,000,000 unemployed. That will tax their IQ's.

"I hope Mr. Andrews will give more attention to the act from the standpoint of administration rather than amendments. All these amendments should be laid aside this session of Congress."

The CIO thus joined the American Federation of Labor, its arch-rival, in opposing changes in the wage-hours law now.

Earlier, W. C. Hushing, appearing as spokesman for William Green, AFL head, told the committee the "temper" of Congress would make it "unwise" to act even amendments which the Federation had endorsed earlier.

Lewis, Green and other interested organization officials had been invited to appear in an effort to work out compromise amendments. This was done in an effort to stave off passage of amendments proposed by Rep. Barden (D) of North Carolina opposed by the labor committee and by President Roosevelt.

2 Names Ire Heiress Seeking 1 New Mate

HOLLYWOOD, July 27 (AP)—Nancy Pierson Brooks Macy Brill, who says she is known by two names in two different states—and finds it "embarrassing"—wants Governor Culbert L. Olson to settle things so she can marry again.

She said today she would take to the governor the problem of action on an appeal from the annulment which William Hunsaker Brill, III, wealthy young sportsman, obtained of their Yuma marriage nearly two years ago. The appeal has been in the courts for more than 18 months.

"I've been known as Mrs. Brill in Nevada and Mrs. Macy in California," the former New York and Birmingham, Ala., society girl explained. "It's humiliating and embarrassing—and, anyway, I want to marry again and settle down."

She declined to identify the bridegroom-to-be.

Brill sought an annulment on the claim that he was intoxicated before, during and after the ceremony March 29, 1937. But a Ventura, Calif., judge granted his plea on the ground that his wife's previous divorce from George Macy of New York was invalid because her Nevada residence was merely simulated.

She married Macy in New York March 22, 1929, and won a divorce Nov. 21, 1934. She eloped with Brill March 29, 1937, but they separated the next day.

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration reported today it spent the record sum of $695,104,483 in carrying out farm-aid and crop control programs during the year which ended June 30.

Texas led all states with payments of $95,861,700. Massachusetts got $587,870.

Foil Kidnaper's Alcatraz Revolt

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27 (INS)—Another one-man revolt against the discipline of Alcatraz prison—by hunger strike, attempted suicide and feigned insanity — has been defeated in the federal island penitentiary, it was revealed today.

Latest recalcitrant in the institution for incorrigible felons was Harmon Waley, kidnaper of 9-year-old George Weyerhauser of Tacoma, Wash.

Starting with a three-week hunger strike, Waley was permitted to starve. Then the emaciated convict was subjected to forced feeding, it was learned.

Nourishing liquid was forced into his nostrils through a tube for almost a month, during which he was periodically confined in the bleak dungeon.

When guards believed he had cracked under the ordeal, Waley attempted suicide, gashing his throat and wrists with broken glass from a cell light bulb.

Waley, who once held captive a lumber magnate's son for $200,000 ransom, also sought in vain to end his 45-year sentence by pretending insanity, whimpering, screaming and muttering incoherently.

Odds are exactly 709 to 1 against anyone getting a state clerical job under civil service, according to figures bared by the civil service commission today.

EDMUND RUZANSKI AND WIFE TAMARA

GETS SOVIET BRIDE AFTER 4-YEAR FIGHT

NEW YORK, July 27 (INS)—The four-year fight of an American engineer against Soviet Russia's refusal to let his young wife join him in America came to a victorious climax today at the pretty, dark-haired wife stepped into his arms.

The engineer, Edmund Ruzanski, American-born son of Polish parents, and a veteran of the U. S. Army and Navy in the World War, went to Russia as an engineer in 1931.

In 1933, at the Port of Baku, he met Tamara Berbin, 19-year-old librarian, when he went to the library and asked for English books. On March 31, 1934, the Yankee engineer and the Russian librarian were married.

In October, 1935, he was ordered by Soviet officials to leave Russia within eight days. No cause was given for the order. When he sought to take his wife with him, the Soviets refused to grant her application to renounce Russian citizenship. Ruzanski went to Poland, and fought in vain for her release from Russia through American consular offices.

In September, 1936, he returned to the United States.

He appealed to newspapers in Detroit, where he is employed in the Ford River Rouge Tire plant, to present his case, then went to Washington, picketed the Russian embassy until police stopped him.

He won the attention of Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, who drew up a petition to Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and the girl was finally allowed to leave Russia.

Girl-Wife Fights for Freedom of Knees

NETTLETON, Ark., July 27 (INS)—Display of a pretty pair of knees became a cause celebre in northeastern Arkansas today and the $50 fine the display invoked was under appeal to the circuit court.

Dainty Mrs. Leslie Alexander, 19-year-old housewife and minister's daughter, was assessed the $50 for wearing shorts and a "two-strapped" shirt on the streets.

Now, everyone of Nettleton's 748 citizens either is taking sides with the petite Mrs. Alexander or with the uncompromising—and unappreciative—law.

Said Mayor J. H. Covel, who caused the attractive matron's arrest:

"It's time they learned that there's laws in this state against a woman running around half naked."

Mrs. Alexander, her eyes sparking with anger, retorted:

"There was absolutely nothing indecent about my costume. Every young woman—married or single—has been wearing shorts in Nettleton for years. Why—why—I never heard of such indecent remarks as the mayor made."

YOUNG POOL RING WITNESS

Owen D. Young, General Motors board chairman, testified here today regarding a lottery racket in which the name of Will Rogers was used ostensibly to collect funds for the Will Rogers Memorial.

The financier, who was chairman of the Will Rogers Memorial committee, told the federal grand jury investigating a $20,000,000 nation-wide pool ring that the name of the committee was used by the ring after authorization had been asked and refused, it was learned.

SILENT ON POLITICS

Young's testimony followed along lines of that given earlier in the week by Mrs. Will Rogers, widow of the humorist.

Young was one of 35 witnesses called during the day by Assistant U. S. Attorney Jackson J. Holtz, who revealed that most of those testifying were former ticket salesmen and agents for the lottery ring.

In the office of U. S. Attorney Edmund J. Brandon, Young joked with reporters, telling them he knew, but wouldn't tell, who would be the next President of the United States.

"You can't get me to talk politics," he parried.

He said it would take a brave man to dare predict there would not be another war soon.

SEES BUSINESS GAINING

As for business, it's getting better fast, the magnate declared.

Accompanied here by John W. Elwood, secretary of the Will Rogers Memorial committee, whose testimony was also heard by the grand jury, Young returned to New York immediately after giving his testimony.

Find Baker Mad Dog Bit

Search through Massachusetts and Rhode Island for a baker who was attacked by a rabid dog at Cranston, R. I., last Tuesday ended today when Robert Pennell, driver for a Lynn bakery reported.

Pennell said the rabid dog, owned by Gilbert Cartier of Cranston, bit him on the right knee when he entered the Cartier yard to make a delivery.

He said he did not take the slight wound seriously, as "the skin wasn't broken and there was only a kind of blood blister where the dog bit me."

Pennell was immediately sent to the city physician at Cranston for Pasteur treatment, while police and health authorities worked out details of a quarantine to restran dogs and cats known to have come in contact with the rabid dog. Besides Pennell, three other persons were known to have been bitten by the Cartier dog. All are under treatment.

79 HIGH SOVIET OFFICERS PURGED

MOSCOW, July 27 (AP)—Seventy-nine prominent Russians, including several high Soviet army officers, were stripped of their decorations by a decree published today.

They include Tairoff, former Soviet minister to the Mongolian People's Republic; ivision Commander Sergeyeff; Air Force Commander Lapin, formerly Marshal Vassily Bluecher's assistant in the Far ast, and Shevchenko, chief of the political administration in the Ural military district.

Also listed as guilty of "actions unworthy of order-bearers" were: Naval Engineer Oras, former Soviet naval attache in Washington; Rappaport, former political commissar of the Frunze Naval Academy; former Vice-Commissar of Foreign Trade Sudying; Submarine Commander Batis, and a Komsomol (communist youth) leader in Khabarosk named Orchinnikoff.

Publication of such a list in the Soviet Union usually is tantamount to announcement those mentioned have been arrested.

AIMS AT FILMS—Called successor to glamour girl Brenda Frazier of New York's society sector, beautiful Mary Steele (above) today planned for a film career . . . which Brenda spurned.

Heiress Spurns Glamour Crown For Hollywood

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)—Manhattan's heralded successor to Brenda Diana Duff Frazier as society "glamour girl No. 1" wants to abdicate even before the coronation—and go to Hollywood.

With the lure of the movies dimming the glitter of the blue-book merry-go-round, tall, blonde Mary Steele, described by one ecstatic commentator as being "cool and delicious as a mint julep," today was reported considering a Paramount movie contract and studying a script submitted for her approval.

In contrast to the dusky-haired Brenda, whose sparkling smile and vivaciousness enlivened last season's society pages, Mary greets the eye with a grave, sweet smile.

She is the daughter of Mrs. John Nelson Steele, and is a graduate of Miss Chapin's exclusive finishing school. Her father is dead.

Something of an eyebrow-raising dither arose several weeks ago when Mary appeared in the play "Stage Door," at the Theater-By-the-Sea, Matunuck, R. I., but she went right ahead with it—and apparently caught the eye of Hollywood talent scouts.

She is a niece of Roland Stebbins, producer of "Green Pastures" and "White Horse Inn."

Revere Lays Plan For New Bus Service

Faced with the loss of passenger service when the narrow gauge railroad is discontinued, Revere citizens worked today under the leadership of former Mayor Andrew A. Cassasa, president of the Revere Chamber of Commerce, on plans for new bus or Boston Elevated accombdations.

In a few days, Cassasa and his committee will probably submit a plan to the legislature for a bus line connection to Point of Pines and Oak Island, linking them to the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway system in Lynn.

China Jubilant At U. S. Abrogation

CHUNGKING, July 27 (INS)—President Roosevelt's action in denouncing the American commercial treaty with Japan was greeted with the greatest enthusiasm today by the Chinese Government.

French Flier Seeks New Distance Record

ISTRES, France, July 27 (AP)—Major Maurice Rossi took off today in an attempt to set a new record for distance flight on a closed course. He flew an Amiot 370 equipped with two Hispano motors. A radio operator accompanied him.

The present record, established in 1938 by three Japanese, is 7239 miles.

Here's Headache Causes, What's Yours?

ABERDEEN, Scotland, July 27 (AP)—British Medical Association leaders swapped notes today and came out with the conclusion that such things as unwanted visitors cause headaches more often than do actual physical disorders.

Other headache causes: Loud voices, the prospect of unpleasant tasks, dislike of other people, depression, worry, insomnia and insults.

FIND LAST SQUALUS PONTOON

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 27 (AP)—Divers located today the last of seven pontoons which had been used July 13 in an unsuccessful attempt to raise the submarine Squalus and her 26 dead.

The pontoon, which was "off its station," was discovered resting on the bottom, with its cable clear and it will be brought to the surface for inspection.

The sixth pontoon was brought up yesterday and towed to the Portsmouth Navy Yard for repairs. Preparations continued for re-attaching the pontoons and another effort to raise the disabled undersea craft continued throughout the day.

Ten pontoons instead of seven, will be employed in the next attempt.

70, Hires Room For 30 Years

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., July 27 (AP)—Gambling that he'll live to be 100, George Butterworth, 70-year-old retired contractor, has paid cash in advance for 30 years for a Florida hotel room.

"Why not?" he said today with a grin. "I know how to take care of myself. I take things easy, play shuffleboard and go fishing. When I get to be 100, the manager of the hotel (Dennis) in St. Petersburg and I will flip a coin to see whether I pay double or nothing."

After 68 years in this town, he'll pull up stakes soon and leave with his wife to make their summer home at Point Pleasant, N. J., and their winter home in Florida.

2 Alarm Fire In E. Weymouth

A two-alarm fire today swept a vacant house under construction in Station street, East Weymouth, endangering the neighborhood and causing several thousand dollars damage.

A second alarm was ordered as flames raced through the big structure and burst through the roof, attracting a crowd of several hundred persons.

The building is being remodeled into apartments.

Hunt Driver to Tell Him Mother Dead

Unaware of a family tragedy, Edward Stephens, Boston businessman, was driving through Maine today as police tried to locate him and deliver the news his mother, Mrs. Maria Alice Cook Stephens, had died at her home, Francisca avenue, West Somerville.

Relatives appealed to Cambridge police for aid in locating the son, believed to be in either Portland or Brunswick, Me. He left Boston early this week on a business trip.

Probe Vandalism In Old Cemetery

TRURO, July 27—State police were called by local officials today to aid in the investigation of vandalism in the historic Methodist cemetery on Lookout Hill, where damage of $2000 was done to ancient grave stones.

Many of the stones, two centuries old, were broken when vandals pushed them over. Flower pots and wreaths were also destroyed.

CRUSHED BY CAR, DIES

FIND AUTO USED BY BANK GANG

NEWBURYPORT, July 27 — Final definite information as to the possible whereabouts of the four "gray shirt bandits" who yesterday held up and robbed the Georgetown Savings Bank of $1700, came today with the finding of the stolen car used in the robbery abandoned in a residential section of this city.

The car, taken from in front of the Boxford Nursery, Boxford, a few minutes before the robbery, is under police guard while being examined for finger prints, and any other evidence the robbers may have left behind them.

The auto is owned by Miss Bernice Andrews of Boxford.

CHECK ESCAPE ROUTE

The route used in the escape was also established when employees of a West Newbury cemetery told police they saw the car being driven by a man wearing sun glasses. It dashed into the cemetery, and then out again.

It was then driven away in this direction. Police, during this time, had established a dragnet throughout the locality, guarding bridges and main highways. It is now believed, however, that the car was abandoned a very short time after the robbery.

The robbers are believed to be members of a Merrimac Valley gang which, on May 23, lined up 10 men in a Salem gambling-room, escaping with $3000.

They are suspected of holding up two men and a girl in a Haverhill laundry a week later and escaping with about $400.

The bandits are thought to maintain a hideout near here where stolen cars are stripped of accessories. They have been chased by police several times.

FLEE WITH MONEY

The only victim in the daring hold up was Lewis H. Giles, 70, treasurer of the Georgetown Savings Bank.

Leaving one bandit at the wheel of the car and two outside as lookouts, the other two robbers entered the bank and approaching Treasurer Giles, who was seated at his desk, commanded him to put his hands up.

In the meantime the second bandit was hastily rifling the cash drawers, taking only bills and scattering change over the floor.

With a final warning to Giles not to move for five minutes, the bandits entered the car with their companions, and the machine shot up Main st, toward Jackman st, then over back roads in the general direction of West Newbury.

Patriarca Mental Test Is Ordered

Dr. A. Warren Stearns of Billerica and Dr. Harry C. Solomon of Boston were appointed today by Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, mental health commissioner, to conduct a mental examination of Raymond L. S. Patriarca, pardoned gunman, indicted for another armed robbery in Brighton.

The tests were ordered in accordance with the Briggs law, requiring a mental examination in cases of this sort. Patriarca's pardon last Christmas caused the present investigation of Massachusetts parolees and pardons.

Women Flee Blast In Jewelry Plant

ATTLEBORO, July 27 — More than 50 women were driven from the Sadler Brothers jewelry factory here by explosion of scrap celluloid, stored in a large shed at the plant.

Evelyn Barber, an employe, paused as she raced from the building, to salvage $10 she left in her auto near the shed and received slight burns. Her car and two other machines were destroyed.

Couple, Baby, Die In Canton, O., Blaze

CANTON, O., July 27 (AP)—Fire sweeping through a residence in fashionable suburban Avondale today left three persons dead and a fourth injured. Two others were rescued.

Dead are Paul F. Morgan, 41, recently-resigned manager of Cincinnati radio station WHBC; his wife, Helen, 36, and their month-old son, Paul, Jr.

'Baby' Hubbies, Not Children, Wives Advised

AMHERST, July 27—Among the [illegible] at least Dr. Elizabeth Kun[illegible] Northampton State Hospital psychiatrist was not about the best lecturer on the Farm and Home Week program, after that talk in which she said husbands and not children, ought to be tabbed by housewives.

The expert was roundly applauded by the masculine contingent among her hearers at Massachusetts State College when she declared that discipline which many women reserve for their hubbies ought to be exerted on the young ones.

Of course, the women [illegible] resented it [illegible] when Dr. Kun[illegible]

"Many husbands are still really children. They have never matured emotionally, and ought to be treated like children.

"Often they fly into a temper the way a child does. They haven't learned to control their emotions."

Men who are so powerless to check their outbursts of temper, or who find relief in drinking to excess, will never make good mates and daughters should not be permitted to marry them, she asserted.

THOUSANDS HAVE COMPARED

AND SWITCHED TO FORD V-8!

THEY COMPARED BRAKES—

and found the Ford hydraulic brakes the biggest ever used on a low-priced car. Greatest in total braking area. The only ones with 12-inch drums and found Ford levelest in starts and stops and on the turns and over rough going. Its passenger ridebase, on transverse springs, is much the longest ridebase at the price.

THEY COMPARED ENGINES—

and found the Ford V-8 fastest, most powerful, and the best all-round performer at the price. It's the only low-priced V-8 in the world.

THEY COMPARED COSTS—

and found the 85 horsepower Ford V-8 gave more miles per gallon in this year's Gilmore-Yosemite run than any other leading low-priced car . . . and also gives more equipment at no extra cost.

THEY COMPARED CHASSIS—and found Ford the steadiest riding because it's the only car at the price with Torque-tube Drive and 4 radius rods for fully stabilized ride.

THEY COMPARED QUALITY

and found Ford alone at this price using valve seats on [illegible], M-Floating rear [illegible], centrifugal clutch, and a lot of other things that spell [illegible] engineering!

For low-cost transportation at its best—now as always!

DALLAS, Tex., July 27 (INS)—[illegible] remainder of her existence in prison after [illegible] Mrs. Velma West [illegible] of her husband, waited today for officers to take her and her companion, Mary Ellen Richards, back to the Marysville, O., reformatory.

[illegible] escaped [illegible] reformatory June 19 were arrested in a [illegible] after a 24-hour search on a [illegible] another girl [illegible] Both agreed to [illegible]

Of her [illegible] when [illegible] determined upon when parole [illegible] there was no [illegible] for a recommendation [illegible] Velma said:

"I had a good time and I guess it was worth it, but it wasn't as much fun as I had expected—traveling around the country like this. We never knew when we would be picked up by police, but we never tried to hide from them.

"I got the bug to escape when I went before the parole board after seven years in the reformatory and was told I would have to spend the rest of my life in prison.

"Hell, you can't do that to a young woman. I waited more than four years for my break and I didn't muff it."

[illegible] 32-year-old [illegible] slayer's [illegible] ferocity with which she beat [illegible] husband, Thomas Edward West, to death in December, 1927, because he would not attend a bridge party with her.

"I married when I was 18," she said. "We lived together a year or so, then started bickering constantly. Then that night I tapped him on the head with a claw hammer—and that was that."

[illegible] to life imprisonment [illegible] Marysville Reformatory March 6, 1928, for a time Velma was [illegible] most troublesome prisoners, but tractable and was made a trusty.

Call Neutrality Law Defeat Wise Action

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
Special to Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, July 27—Congressional leaders studying reports showing an easing of tension in Europe are more convinced than when the issue was acute in both Senate and House that a course of wisdom for the United States was pursued in the postponement at this session of consideration of all revision of the neutrality law.

Some of them are of the opinion that the passage of the [illegible] would be a step toward the abrogation of the agreement between Great Britain and France if Germany and Italy, instead of the mandatory arms embargo, adopted the cash-and-carry bill definitely [illegible] foreign countries.

U. S. HOLDING BAG

This is a favorite argument on Capitol Hill that the London-Tokyo agreement has left America holding the bag in the Orient, and there has been considerable criticism [illegible]

Senator [illegible] Capper of Kansas, [illegible] member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and [illegible] the only member of the Senate group of 4 senators who talked with President Roosevelt [illegible] Europe and [illegible] the keeping of [illegible] to avoid [illegible] the Senate [illegible] Neutrality Committee.

"There is a very deep interest in the issue of peace and war involved in Mr. Roosevelt's demand for repeal of the mandatory arms embargo," said Senator Capper.

SCARE MANUFACTURED

"I am in touch with many persons who have recently returned from Europe. They informe me that there is far less talk of impending war today in Europe, than there is right here in the United States. The war scare seems to have been largely manufactured over here."

Senator [illegible] McCarran (D.) of Nevada, another one of the 31 members of the senate who handed [illegible] their arm neutrality [illegible] on all the session, said in an interview today:

"No business boom can be sound that depends for its existence on the sale of agencies of destruction of human life when such sale is to furnish munitions of war to belligerent nations where we are in no wise involved."

Koussevitzky Says France Set for War

France is now a [illegible] ready for any emergency, Serge Koussevitzky, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra declared today as he returned from a three weeks visit overseas.

"I have never seen France like this before. When I was in Paris before Munich in September there was panic. Today France is a united country with dissolution and France is ready for any emergency.

I have talked with men of many and with people everywhere and I find France remarkable something now and I never was so much surprised.

Such courage. Such strength. Nobody talks of war. But everybody understands me the only way is like one man," M. Koussevitzky declared.

OUTLINE OF TREATY U. S. ENDS

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—Here are the highlights of the 1911 treaty of commerce and navigation with Japan, which the United States is terminating:

3—Citizens of each nation shall have liberty to travel, reside and conduct business in the other, without paying higher taxes than do natives. They shall be exempt from compulsory military service and shall receive "the most constant protection and security."

2—Dwellings, warehouses and shops of citizens of each nation shall be respected in the other's territory and shall be searched only under lawful conditions.

TRADE PROVISIONS

Each nation may appoint consuls and deputies in all cities of the other.

Reciprocal freedom of commerce and navigation shall exist with access to all places, ports and rivers which are or may be opened to foreign commerce.

Parties to inter-oil [illegible] shall regulate import duties between the nations. Export duties shall not be higher than those on similar articles to other countries.

Imports of each nation shall be exempt from inland duties and shall receive equal treatment in warehousing and other facilities.

SHIPPING REGULATED

Commercial companies of each nation can appear in the courts of the other subject to [illegible] laws.

Vessels carrying products shall equal [illegible] vessels of both nations. The most favorable customs [illegible] the vessels of other [illegible].

[illegible] is exempt from [illegible] by national law [illegible] property [illegible] most favorable treatment [illegible] of each nation [illegible] patents, trademarks [illegible].

Japs Flay U. S. 'Unfriendly Act'

TOKYO, July 27 (AP)—The United States' decision to terminate the 28-year-old commerce and navigation treaty with Japan was regarded today in foreign office and other official circles as an unfriendly act because of its abruptness.

The foreign office spokesman declared that ending of the treaty was "unthinkable."

"Nobody can ignore the political significance of the action which was not preceded by any exchange of notes or previous notifications," he said. "We fail to understand America's real intention."

It was stated [illegible] that the United States embassy was also surprised by the swiftness of the state department's action as was the Japanese foreign office.

[illegible]

SHOCK TO JAPAN

[illegible]

The spokesman added that Japan certainly will [illegible] adverse measures if there is any [illegible] to American [illegible] as a result of the new treaty [illegible] will [illegible] on [illegible].

[illegible] cannot be [illegible] United [illegible] Japan is [illegible] it has persisted [illegible].

American action is [illegible] shock Japan, which has already [illegible] full [illegible] passage [illegible].

It is stated that abrogation of the treaty is intended as an American [illegible] to end [illegible]. However the Washington [illegible] is not in a position [illegible] tion of Japanese drastic restriction of Japanese imports. According to the Chugai Shogyo, leading commercial daily in Tokyo, abrogation of the treaty will hit America harder than it will Japan."

LANAGAN AT PARDON HEARING

Abruptly resuming private hearings after a one-day public session, the special commission investigating pardons and paroles will Warden Francis J. W. Lanagan of state prison for questioning today.

Only six persons appeared before the commission at the first public hearing at which new legislation for correcting evils in the pardon and parole system was the subject of discussion.

One strong complaint was registered by P. Emmett Gavin, former Democratic chairman and still a member of the parole board who declared that records of prisoners at Concord Reformatory are three or four years out of date.

Correction Commissioner Austin H. MacCormick of New York invited to testify, struck at politics in parole administration, saying that politics must be kept out or the public will pay through the nose.

He was immediately followed by Major Ralph W. Robart, chairman of the Massachusetts State Parole Board who vigorously denied politics influenced the work of the board and demanded a "clean bill of health" in proof of a bad administration.

In the meantime, the Senate passed the measure, already approved by the House, which will extend the life of the commission until December, and give it an additional $5000 to work with.

Robart and members of his department have no jurisdiction over revocation of paroles and asked that more power be given them.

mercury hoisted to 90 degrees and the humidity bad.

While New York roasted, and World Fair attendance continued to suffer, we Bostonians were cool, comfortable and energetic, for that tempering old East Wind kept the red fluid in the glass measuring stick below the 80 mark. Boston was a great place to work and a great place to shop, and all New England was a grand place to be in while New York and other sections suffered under the scorching sun.

New York, 90; Albany, 97; Buffalo, 93; Cincinnati, 91; Detroit, 92; Kansas City, 99; (Whew!) Washington, 90; Philadelphia, 94.

BOSTON, 79.

Excuse, please, Mr. Grover Whalen, for suggesting that your great fair would have had a really great setting in Boston where the weather is always ideal (well, pretty nearly always, anyway) and folks can buy just as nice things in as nice stores as in New York, and real vacationland is just outside the front door.

THE MORE WE LEARN about the new Roosevelt $2,-[illegible],000,000,000 lending-spending bill the more we discover that there is no "lend" in it.

It is nearly all SPEND and GIVE.

Secretary Morgenthau in a statement before the Senate banking committee the other day naively let the cat out of the lending-spending bag when he said:

"In the case of non-recoverable expenditures the servicing of the debts created to finance them must be met out of general tax revenues."

This means, of course, that the immense sums that the administration wants to "lend" OUTSIDE OF THE BUDGET to railroads, hospitals, toll roads, for "rural electrification," etc., may not be "self liquidating" after all, according to one of the bill's sponsors, Secretary Morgenthau.

In other words, this political slush-fund will be a flat HAND-OUT FROM THE TAXPAYERS' POCKETS.

The PERMANENT nature of this dangerous extra budgetary political spending was admitted by Mr. Morgenthau.

So if the New Deal gets a new lease of life next year, we shall have full blown state socialistic Fascism on the European plan.

In the new lending-spending bill millions are to be loaned to "toll roads."

Here is what President Roosevelt's Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Wallace, said of toll roads on April 27 of this year in a report submitted to Congress:

"The report in its present form defines the location of three east-west and three north-south highways conforming to the description of section 13 of the federal aid highway act of 1938, approved June 8, 1938, and indicates conclusively that financing of the full costs of such highways by direct-toll connections is NOT POSSIBLE."

WITH REGARD to these six super-highways, the report the President himself submitted to Congress states that the amount of the tolls collected over the 16-year period from 1945 to 1960 would be an average of $12,140,000 per year, as contrasted with an average annual total cost over the same period of $1[illegible],000,000.

More than $100,000,000 a year would have to be dug up in the Treasury for this one self liquidating project alone.

This is an indication of the worthlessness of the whole lending spending project.

The administration itself does not believe in its efficacy to bring back prosperity.

It is, flatly, just a final bid to "the boys" to get in line around the pie counter for next year.

This bill ought to be buried deeper than the Supreme Court packing bill and the NRA.

CALL TWO IN BRIDGES HEARING

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27 (AP)—The prosecution announced today it would call two more witnesses in the Harry Bridges deportation hearing before Merriel R. Bacon, Portland, Ore., policeman, is reported to be slated for examination of the witness's connection with the Communist party.

Cross-questioning of the Pacific longshoremen was sharply interrupted by the prosecution yesterday and James Lee, from former president of the Montana Federation of Labor, was called to the stand to testify he was once a member of the Communist party.

He protested against Pinkerton based on grounds the Austrian-born labor leader belonged to a party advocating violent overthrow of the United States government.

The prosecution declined to say who the two witnesses are who will be quizzed before Bacon is returned for cross questioning on his testimony that he joined the Communist party in 1930 at the request of his chief to investigate the organization.

The prosecution likewise refused to comment on whether one of the new witnesses would be James B. Ferguson, former member of the Marine Firemen's Union who testified before the Dies committee in Washington that he was a Communist party member and had attended meetings with Bridges.

Ferguson, it is said, is to be used at a San Francisco hotel where he was employed by Ferguson recently was [illegible]

Hollywood Paragraphs

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 27—The T. C. F. gang feel they've got something in Linda Darnell, the little girl who was so young when she first started in pictures that they sent her home to grow up.

She makes her debut in Elsa Maxwell's "Hotel for Women," the Cosmopolitan picture being cast and tonight and after that is gone she gets a break that every budding actress would adore. That is the lead in Twentieth Fox's next picture, Johnny Apollo, starting September 4 with Irving Cummings directing. Ty will have Edward Arnold as his father, a stock manipulator who goes to jail. Sounds a little Richard Whitneyish but isn't, because the son (Ty) is the hero.

Long ago, even before you and I can remember — ninety-nine years to be exact—a sea thriller, "Two Years Before the Mast," was written by Richard Henry Dana. That each succeeding generation has read this book is evidence that it has attained the status of a classic. To get down to brass tacks, I was talking to Eddie Small today and he has taken the Dana book right out of the public domain and is putting it into work within the next six weeks. He has already signed Vic McLaglen and hopes to get Joel McCrea for the top spot for this Hardy sailing epic.

Haven't seen Zoe Akins in ages but I happened to follow her on the Warner lot and one of my pals told me that she had just finished a new novel, a sequel to "The Greeks Had A Word For It," and Warners are interested. The title, "Trojan Dames," amused me, conveying as it does the idea of a story of chorus girls. Zoe had Bette Davis in mind when she wrote her novel and if Warners buy the rights you'll see La Davis as a hair-pulled wise-cracking chorine.

Warm weather is a discouraging time for those who have to prepare meals and for those who have to eat them, too.

Appetites are apt to be skimpy and a good meal prepared with a lot of effort will often be left practically untouched. Even the meal planner herself, who has been out at bridge and must rush for another before she's had time to [illegible]

Or she might even [illegible] the members of the family who are away all day that they eat a light luncheon so that will be like a hearty meal at night. On the other hand she might prefer that heavy meal at noon, so she can save her energy and treat herself to a nice meal when no extensive preparations [illegible] the evening.

CEREAL BOWL DELUXE

This well known blended [illegible] is a good basis for a "Cereal Bowl" dinner such as featured in certain restaurants. For each service use a pottery cereal bowl of generous size. Fill with a mixture of crisp ready-to-eat cereals—blended wheat and rice, corn flakes, bran, crushed wheat biscuits, or any mixture you like. Cover with sliced peaches or other fruit. Sprinkle with brown sugar and serve with whole milk or cream. For special occasions top with whipped cream or cereal balls.

"You know, Becky, I'm a woman down there, pay [illegible] for three weeks while you're getting on apartment!" Gavin had good-naturedly grumbled. Alone he could hunk with Wilson or Dave [illegible] of the boys. And after [illegible] he and the baby could go down

HOME AGAIN

In the end she went home. Gavin gave her another hundred dollars one morning, the morning they would start a fresh week at the Coronado.

Rebecca determined to pay off [illegible] remaining bills ex[illegible] much it would leave for [illegible] [illegible] giving up the apartment and [illegible] Sadie with Wilson and Lonita. And she herself went down to the ferry and bought a ticket for Sidletts.

Sadie's looked oddly shrunken when she got out of the train in bleak midafternoon. All the little shops on Main street looked countrified and small.

A jay little town crawling up the first slopes of the Sierras, but the fresh air struck upon her flushed face [illegible] cool and sweet and when she half jumped and half tumbled out of the taxi at her mother's kitchen door. Becky was laughing and crying together in excitement.

"What do you suppose your mother'd say if you went home in January?" he asked.

She heard her mother's unchanged voice, "Well, for the land sakes, Becky!" and the excited shouting of small brothers. She was somehow gotten into the warm kitchen among them all, and the happy, breathless questions and answers were flying about, the boys' awkward moments of embarrassment and explanation.

FINDS LIFE CHANGED

Becky thought at first that all that was over, that dreadful moment of adjusting present to past. But she found that as the hours went by it was not so. There was a gap, and all her mother's generosity and all her tacit apology could not quite bridge it. She was changed; they were all changed. life could not go back.

But the bliss that it was to be home again showed in every expression of her older face, sounded in every word she said, and they forgave her, without ever knowing or thinking that they must forgive her, because she was Becky and because she brought back to them something that was of priceless value in their lives.

Her appearance immediately betrayed her condition. A baby was welcome to Sarah under any condition. Her father shook his head lovingly, doubtfully.

Little old Becky, eh? Well, well, well!

Now tell me everything and anything," Sarah said seriously when Becky had had a night of [illegible] and when the two women were busy in the kitchen with breakfast dishes.

Gavin [illegible] Mother and [illegible] simply not used to making allowances for a woman. Not in any way. Her comfort and her expenses and her feelings!

Selfish, Sarah observed thoughtfully, looking up over her glasses. How about money?

"Well, Mother, if he had it! Or if he was making [illegible] cards or dice. I didn't mind [illegible] [illegible] Becky knew Sidletts [illegible] could feel [illegible] attitude toward gambling.

When do you go back to him, Becky?

For some [illegible] the [illegible] question struck her cool and Becky looked startled as she said: Well, I thought after the baby comes . . .

FEELS HAPPINESS SHRIVEL

Sarah shook a wise head, and Becky felt her happiness shrivel within her. That's too long to leave a man, dear, now in the be[illegible] [illegible] lady. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

AUTO SPURT LIFTS BUSINESS CURVE

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)—A rising business curve today felt the billion-dollar touch of the automobile industry, gigantic user of raw materials and machinery.

Advance ordering of materials and preparations for an early shift to production of 1940 models, some business analysts said, partly accounts for the unusual mid summer vigor of industry.

Output of old models has been falling, but the big motor manufacturers were reported to be accumulating steel and parts for the assembly of new cars. Automobile demand, trade observers explained, has had a large hand in the jump in steel production to above 60 per cent of capacity this week, highest since last autumn.

The motor industry last year, it was noted, used 51 per cent of the strip steel produced in this country, 41 per cent of the sheets and 34 per cent of the bars.

STRIKE IS FACTOR

The strike tie-up of General Motors tool and die plants, analysts said, may retard the start of the campaign on 1940 models in some plants, but Packard already has gone into production and Chrysler units were expected to get going by mid-August.

The early start on 1940 automobiles, in preparation for the October New York Motor Show, introduced a factor into the business picture which ahed both hope and doubt on the business upswing.

Some said it foreshadowed further improvement, since the motor industry tended to be the mainspring of recovery drives the last few years.

TOPS 1929 FIGURES

Others held it exaggerated the importance of the upturn in the absence of more convincing evidence of improvement in certain relatively depressed lines, like farm prices and railroad equipment.

Motor makers are winding up on a 3,500,000 output season compared with 2,655,000 in the 1938 season and more than 5,000,000 on the 1937 campaign.

Growth in motor transportation . . . [illegible] . . . with steady expansion in use of electricity.

While most business indices have been unable to top the 1929 peaks, gasoline consumption in the United States running nearly 10 per cent ahead of 1929.

Electric power use is approximately 40 above the level 10 years ago just before the 1929 Wall Street crash.

Carloadings Decline

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The Association of American Railroads reported today 656 341 cars of revenue freight were loaded during the week ending last Saturday. This was a decrease of 17,471 cars, or 2.6 per cent compared with the preceding week.

EARNINGS

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)—American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corp. reported today for the quarter ended June 30 net profit of $414,071, compared with net loss of $151,133 in the June quarter last year. For the first six months profit of $940,650 compared with loss of $490,700 in the first half of 1938.

American Airlines, Inc., reported profit for the six months ended June 30 of $496,098 before federal income taxes of about $93,000, compared with net loss of $151,234 in the like 1938 period.

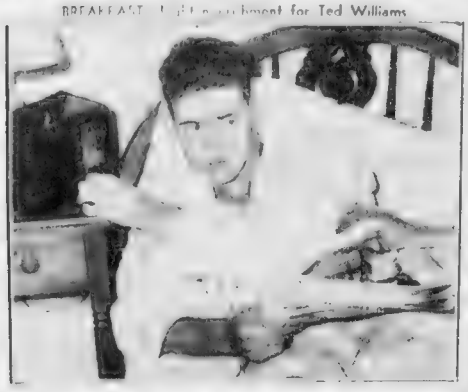
Woody Rich in Comeback As Hose Close With Chisox

BREAKFAST in bed is entertainment for Ted Williams



RIN Tin Tin eats before heading for Fens.

By JOE CASHMAN

Young Woody Rich, who hasn't won a ball game since he hurt his arm late in May, will try again when he takes the Red Sox mound in the fifth and final game of the series with the slightly frayed and faded White Sox at the Fens this afternoon.

Fenway Lineup

WHITE SOX		RED SOX

[illegible] home runs tied [illegible] with two out in the [illegible] the way to the short end of a [illegible]

"Double X" scored the first Boston run off Lee in 13 innings by propelling his 22d homer over the left field wall screen and all in the fourth.

Coming up in the fifth, with two mates on and two out, he rescued both with a terrific two base thump against the barrier in left center.

But the natives were [illegible] two runs when [illegible] in the eighth with a [illegible]

So this time "Jeems" hit what probably was the longest round-tripper in Fenway history to knot the count. The ball, soaring a mile in the air, was speeding high, wide and handsome to the right of the flagpole far above the brick wall which separates the upper center field stands from Landsdown street.

CHISOX FILL BASES

From there in the Cronin show would be denied.

The White Sox filled the bases with no outs in the tenth on an infield single by Kuhel, a walk to Pat Lee Haves, a muff of the ball by Foxx and a single by Jimmy Walker, who had made face hits to Al Simmons and Ossie Vitt and getting Luke Appling to rap a double play ball back to the box.

Then the home boys came in to cut a full portion from their support by Dearden. Dorr and Finney led off with singles for the winning tally.

This after apparently being doomed to fall 8½ games back of the Yanks who slaughtered the Bosox in New York the Yankees are only a half game of going 7 games back and [illegible] the edge in the league race with the Pale Hose.

More than that the pep balloon [illegible] of pulling that right up out of the fire might to benefit the Sox Ba[illegible] boys no end.

They will [illegible] down and Foxx got to flailing.

BREAKS FAILED SOX

Not only were they suffering from the blind stagger by every break was going against them at [illegible] but also of the [illegible] were going them [illegible]

However, he's looked more im[illegible] and [illegible] that [illegible] in [illegible] his winning stride and [illegible] in from here on.

[illegible] It will be the stiffest sort of test.

On the White Sox hill will be Johnny Rigney who knocked loudly on the portal of baseball's hall of fame in Chicago last week, when he held the Fenway favorites hitless until the eighth inning as he romped in an 8 to 0 decision.

If [illegible] in the Pale Hose pelvis [illegible] would be [illegible] were not so much [illegible] Against the Sox he's not there in the Wind City.

They took care of Johnny Marcum, Clint Brown and Jack Knott of Tuesday. Yesterday, they, or rather he, meaning James Emory Foxx, wrecked Thorny "Lefty" Lee, who had blanked them in Mrs O'Leary's cow town to become the first and only southpaw to beat them this year.

Unfortunately they were opposed [illegible]

King, Anderson In Grudge Race

With just a few points separating Bob King and Rufe Anderson in their fight for the New England midget auto racing championship, [illegible] 20-lap feature at the Riverside Park speedway, Medford, looms as one of the most important races of the summer season.

King apparently had the title all but won last month when he had [illegible] but in the last four weeks Anderson, the wealthy Nashua, N. H., boy who drives for a hobby, has piled up so many points that a victory over King tonight will put him on an even par with the Waltham veteran.

THE RED SOX had a bad attack of jitters in the first game of their double-header with the White Sox, and their latest winning streak came to an abrupt halt. The jitters is a common ailment with major league ball clubs, as well as with football elevens, hockey teams, golfers, boxers, tennis stars and jockeys.

The jitters is brought on by intense, high tension athletic competition.

Lou Finney, Jimmy Foxx, Jim Tabor, Joe Vosmik and Peacock combined to make the attack of jitters a complete success.

Joe Cronin, wise in the affairs of baseball, was probably happy to see the case of jitters run its course without too much damage to the pennant chances of his club. Cronin knows better than most managers on account of the fact he also plays that one cannot keep going on high without an occasional letdown.

Athletes in other branches of sport often do not have to compete every day, and can avoid the jitters by breaking training. A dinner with a party of friends with a few corks popping from champagne bottles has been known to save champion golfers and tennis players from disaster as preparation for an important test has got on their nerves.

Jack Dempsey always had one or two clowns around his training camp so that he could laugh off the cares of a coming bout.

Ball players in a tight pennant race cannot go on champagne parties and they do not have time to be amused by court jesters, and so they occasionally relieve their mental and physical strain by an old-fashioned case of jitters. When a club has the jitters it is perfectly permissible for the players to boot easy grounders, muff flies and toss the agate to the four corners of the lot.

The fans usually enter into the spirit of the occasion, and cheer lustily when the players forget themselves long enough to make a put out.

Sad Case of the Pittsburgh Pirates

THE MOST famous case of the jitters was the one that knocked the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League championship. It appeared as if "Pie" Traynor had his club coasting to a pennant when it was ceased by the jitters.

Traynor is an old hand in baseball, and he didn't get alarmed when his players couldn't do anything right. He felt at the time that as soon as they got all of the bad baseball out of their systems they would settle down and play good baseball.

Unfortunately for Traynor and for the pennant hopes of the Pirates, the players went in for the jitters on a wholesale basis. The disease soon became epidemic, and before the Pirates could settle down again they were out of the pennant race, and Gabby Hartnett won the championship with his Cubs.

It may be just as well that it happened that way for the Pirates would probably have had a complete collapse if it had been necessary for them to have clashed with the Yankees in the world's series. The Yankees have a habit of upsetting the balance of National League clubs when the chips are down.

Class Teams Always Able to Rally

THE BRUINS hockey club was overtaken by the jitters in the middle of the championship race, but it had the youth and the class to rally and go on to win the Stanley Cup.

Young clubs are always best when it comes to staging a come back. Teams with veteran players worry too much when things are going wrong, and worry was never known to help anything.

You cannot imagine Ted Williams getting permanently upset because he happens to strike out or miss a ground ball. He is more likely to become more determined to show the opposition he can drive out another home run, or make a good play in the field.

When young Williams missed a swing, and let his bat slip out of his hands in the first game of the twin bill, the cash customers behind the Sox bench had to do a little fancy dodging. Unless Ted can control his bat, it may be necessary for the Sox management to protect the fans with chicken netting.

Williams takes such a healthy cut at the ball that his bat may even land in right field if he fails to cling onto it. Ted, like Babe Ruth, is one of the few great hitters who looks good even when he strikes out. Ted always leaves the fans wondering just where the ball would have gone if he had connected with one of his terrific swings.

Football Talk Betwen Fenway Games

STANLEY WOODWARD, sports editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, was at the double-header. Stanley is a former Boston sports writer, and has been spending his vacation in New England.

Woodward has taken time out to arrange a football game between the New York Giants National League eleven and an all-star college outfit. The game will be played in New York on September 9. Twenty-nine of the better college players have been named for the game, and the Giants will have to step if they are to win.

There will be a contest in Chicago the latter part of August between the Bears and a team of college stars.

These news items make one realize that football is only just around the corner.

Quarterbacks and halfbacks will then have their opportunities to have occasional cases of jitters.

The jitters is a sort of national institution. They catch up to everybody in time.

MARTIN, KNOWLES EVEN IN N. E. AMATEUR GOLF

By BILL GRIMES

RUMFORD, R. I., July 27—With half of the 32 first round matches of the 14th annual New England amateur championship accounted for, there were no upsets registered today at the Wannamoisett Country Club.

Holly Mandly, medalist of the qualifying round, came through with a 4 and 2 victory over George McLachlan, another Nutmeg Stater, by putting together a pair of 3s.

McLachlan gave Mandly a battle for 12 holes, at which stage of the match he was all even. At the 13th McLachlan bumped into enough trouble to take a 7 and then the medalist turned on the heat, going 3-2-4, to win 4 and 2.

DR. HAYES WINS THRILLER

Dr. Guy S. Hayes, North Andover, and young Joe Monahan, Sandy Burr, had the best match of the upper half of the draw. Monahan opened up with a "birdie" and after losing the 2d to a par, deuced the short 3d, but a trapped second shot cost him the 4th hole, and for the second time the match was all flat.

They halved the next four holes and Dr. Hayes went 1 up by winning the 9th, but Monahan pulled up on even terms by taking the 10th and stepped out in front by "three-ing" the short 12th. Dr. Hayes' par four squared the match at the 14th and took the lead at the 15th and held it.

Bobby Knowles, The Country Club, tossed a 34 at Walter Senna, New Bedford, on the out nine to be three up at the turn and then he started back 4 4 3 3 3, which was too fast a pace for the boy from the Whaling City.

Judge Joseph W. Monahan, Sandy Burr, came close to furnishing an upset, but he finally dropped a 3 and 2 verdict to Sam Neild, Jr., Pawtucket, former Hearst New England junior champion.

Judge Monahan was four down going to the 11th hole ,which he won, only to lose the short 12th to a bogey 4. Then Hizzoner took the 13th and 14th, but the old spark faded at this point and the Rhode Island boy was awarded the decision.

SHEEHY TRIPS McNIFF

Jackie Sheehy eliminated his clubmate, Johnny McNiff, 4 and 3. He went out in 37 to be 2 up, and then took the 11th, 12th and 13th hole. McNiff came back with a "birdie" at the 14th to keep the match going but Sheehys' halve at the short 15th ended the all-Salem tilt.

After losing the first and second holes, due to a 5-6 start, Den Shea, Jr., South Shore, showed R. R. Rawlings of Westerly, R. I., a super brand of golf. From the third hole until the match ended on the 16th green, Dan Shea was two under even fours.

OLYMPETS MEET SPRINGFIELD NINE

The Olympets face another tough assignment at the Garden tonight when they face the A. C. Spaulding Girls of Springfield in the feature attraction of a slated twin bill.

The Springfield team comes into the Hub with a record of 15 wins in 16 trips postward. Their roster boasts five girls who played on the team that won the state title last year, as well as three young ladies who have played in Madison Square Garden.

The preliminary battle, a Metropolitan League game, will see two out of Boston teams, the Rehoboth Milkmaids from Providence and the Home Service Laundry Girls of Worcester, clash.

The Springfield team possesses some of the best talent that western Massachusetts boasts. Their manager, Mrs. Edith Drew, is especially high on the ability of her catcher, Mary Tarke, and her first sacker, Louise Sullivan.

Lineups at the Garden:

Scores With Three Winners at 'Rock'

Dave Wilson, leading handicapper, took up where he left off at Suffolk Downs and came up with three winners at Rockingham Park, yesterday.

Philosopher in the second race looked best to Dave and led every step of the way for a $5.60 payoff. Sugarage figured best with Wilson in the third and scored a length triumph for a $6.60 return.

In the fifth, Dave liked Glorious Time and his choice was right and paid the nice price of $7.40 on the nose. For the best in handicapping, follow the man who has proven by cold facts to be the outstanding authority of horseflesh in New England. WIN WITH WILSON!

Magee Appointed To Me. Ring Board

AUGUSTA, Me., July 27 (INS)—Reverberations were awaited today in Maine Republican circles over the appointment of two Democrats to the newly organized boxing commission by Republican Governor Lewis O. Barrows.

Democrats appointed to the commision were Chairman G. Rockwell Youngs, Bangor, and John J. Magee, Bowdoin College track coach and A. A. U. executive committee official. The third member was Roy F. Good (R.) of Sanford. All appointments are for three years.

Youngs is to receive a $1500 yearly salary, while Magee and Good will be paid on a daily basis.

Detroit Next Site Of Publinks Golf

BALTIMORE, July 27 (AP)—The nation's public links golfers will battle for the 1940 championship at Detroit, the public links section committee of the United States Golf Association decided at a meeting here.

The action is subject to approval by the U. S. G. A. executive committee at its meeting in Chicago in September. The date also will be determined then.

Buddy Caiento Lost To New York Team

Buddy Caiento, 175-pound co-ed and one of the most colorful girl roller football players in the nation will be lost to the New York Aces when they battle the Boston Aces in the third of their series at National League Field tonight.

The New Yorkers won last night to even the opening night victory of the Boston club, but without Caiento their chances are slim tonight.

Swifty SAYS:

I'm going over the long Revere course again tonight. Looks like there's some sneaky pups in there anxious to get me—but am I laffing. But tomorrow I'm a little worried 'cause the Rube comes back again.

Kayak, Cravat Due to Clash Again Saturday

INGLEWOOD, Cal., July 27 (AP)—C. S. Howard's Kayak II and Townsend B. Martin's Cravat were matched for another clash Saturday as word got around that a $50,000 special race for the pair is being considered for New York's Belmont Park next fall.

The South American stake star has trimmed Martin's speedy four-year-old in their only two meetings—the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap in March and the $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup last week.

Kayak won both; Cravat was seventh, 11 lengths back, in the "Hundred Grand" and second, five lengths away, in the Gold Cup.

The Belmont match race apparently was only in the discussion

Kayak at 132 picks up seven pounds off his easy Gold Cup victory. Cravat adds four pounds, going to 130.

Other entries, with weights, are Specify, 114; Sorteado, 109; Gosum, 107; Olimpo, 104; Mt. Vernon II, 102; Wildland, 100, and Big Ed, 95. The event will be run at a mile and one-half, a distance at which Kayak is untested.

Big League Stars

By the Associated Press

Jimmy Foxx, Red Sox, and Gerald Walker, White Sox — Former drove in five runs with two homers and a double in second game, while "Gee Gee" got four for five in first game to aid Chicago win.

Tom Sunkel, Cards—His two-hit pitching performance topped the Giants, 10-0.

Dizzy Dean, Cubs—Regained his lost touch and limited Dodgers to five hits.

Morrie Arnovich, Phillies, and Joe Bowman, Pirates—Former snapped out of batting slump with four for four in first game, and latter won second over Phils with five-hit job.

Bill Dickey, Yankees—Three homers in one game, only one short of tieing modern major league mark set by Lou Gehrig, his ex-roommate.

Al Milnar, Indians—Limited Athletics to eight hits as tribe won.

Buck Newsom, Tigers — Six-hit pitching was good for win over Senators by 3-1.

Young Ted Adams In Fourth Round Of Canadian Golf

ST. BRUNO, Quebec, July 27 (AP)—Four American stars, including the defending champion, Ted Adams of Chillicothe, Mo., squared off against a dozen Canadians today in the fourth round of the Canadian amateur championship over the sun-seared links here.

TEDDY ADAMS

With favorites like Ross Somerville and Bobby Dunkleburger scattered right and left in the mid-week upheaval, the championship looked as wide-open as ever in memory. Still, the gallery had established a quartet of "favorites" to land in the semi-finals.

Two of them were Americans, Adams and Ed Meister of Cleveland, the latter the cool customer who ran down a 30-foot putt on the 19th extra hole to eliminate the great Ross Somerville, seven times winner of the title.

The other two were Canadians, Phil Farley of Toronto, and Ken Black of Vancouver, both of whom have been taking the course apart the last two days. Farley shot even par golf for 16 holes to eliminate Mort McCarthy of Norfolk, Va.

The two other Americans still in the running were John Levinson of Kennebunk Beach, Me., and Ted D. Adams of Boston, Massachusetts amateur champion.

In today's fourth round Levinson was paired against Ken Black, one of the favored Canadians, while Adams (of the Boston Adamses) faced Willis Kirby of Sherbrooke, Que.

The other Ted Adams (the one from Chillicothe) drew Marcel Pinsonnault of Montreal as his fourth-round opponent. Meister, the giant-killer, met Henry Martell of Edmonton.

ered had they been forced to swallow a double dose of defeat.

As it turned out, however, they walked off the field with confidence at a new high. They had been away off their feed in that fray and still they had won. Now they had but one more game with the White Sox and then they'd have three cracks at the Browns while the pesky Pale Hose were in New York.

A toast to the "Beast," as his mates affectionately call James Emory Foxx.

And a "bird" to the birds who were giving "Double X" and his mates the bird until Jimmy's home runs started popping.

Aren't the Sox entitled to a bad day once in a blue moon? Those who can't honestly answer in the affirmative are pretty poor specimens of sportsmen.

The Sox have played the most courageous, most brilliant and most successful ball in the majors for a month. They've given Boston its biggest baseball thrill in 20 years.

But they can't be expected to win every game. The other fellow is bound to have an occasional winning afternoon. If that weren't the case, there'd be no game of baseball.

And when the home boys are losing, what difference if they play brilliantly and suffer a heartbreaking defeat or temporarily go to pieces and get a severe trouncing?

Jeering never changed the result of a ball game.

Encouragement has won championships.

Jenkins Plans 2d Record Test

SALT LAKE CITY, July 27 (AP)—Ab Jenkins, unperturbed by a narrow escape from death in his blazing race car, plans another attack on distance speed records in 10 days.

Jenkins was burned severely the length of his right arm and on his right leg after fire broke out in his "Mormon Meteor 3rd" and fired his gasoline-soaked clothes.

In the nearly four hours before the mishap on Bonneville Salt Flats, Jenkins averaged 171.3 miles an hour for 638 miles and raised his own world records for three hours from 170.94 m. p. h. to 171.41; for 500 miles from 170.83 to 171.31, for 500 kilometers from 172.85 to 177.1, and for 1000 kilometers from 171.58 to 172.3.

VETS FOXX, DEAN, REST HAVE DAY

By International News Service

There is always a disposition in sport to take the old reliable standbys for granted while singing the praises of the newest headliners.

All too often we are inclined to barp on a rookie sensation like Ted Williams, Atley Donald or Bob Feller while taking for granted the equally fine play of veterans like Lefty Grove, Red Ruffing, Dizzy Dean, Ted Lyons.

Sometimes we take special note of a star of many years' standing only when he begins to slip. But sometimes it happens that the old-timers' game is so consistently sensational nobody can overlook him.

And that brings us to Jimmy Foxx, the grand old vet of the Red Sox. We had almost forgotten the Maryland mauler until he brought himself forcibly to our attention with four homers in the last two days.

Then we noticed that the old boy has already scored 86 runs, made 109 hits, driven in 73 runs and has a batting average of .366, putting him second to Joe DiMaggio.

Jimmy is well out in front of the home run parade with 23 to his credit and is making a grand bid to lead the American League in all departments.

Jimmy's Nos. 22 and 23 gave the Red Sox a 6-5 decision over the White Sox in the second game, after the Bostonese had dropped the first, 8-1.

The split dropped the Red Sox half a game more behind the Yanks who simply overwhelmed the hapless Browns, 14-1, for Ruffing's 14th victory.

Big Red gave the Browns only three hits while the Yanks made 20, including three homers by Bill Dickey and one by Tommy Henrich, and scored and hit in every inning.

Still another veteran, Buck Newsom, gave only six hits for his 11th victory as the Tigers trimmed the Senators, 3-1 and the Indians pounded out an easy 9-3 decision over the Athletics for Al Milnar.

And three veterans Dizzy Dean, newly released from the dog house, Gabby Hartnett and Dick Bartell pooled their efforts to give the Cubs a 10-2 verdict over the Dodgers.

Diz contributed a five hit performance while Gabby and Dick hit for the circuit.

5 Park Battles On Card Tonight

All ten clubs in the Boston Park League go into action at 6:15 on five different fronts tonight, ranging from the Star of the Sea-Murphy Club tussle at East Boston to the encounter due between Holy Name A. A. and Dick Casey Club at Garvey field, Neponset.

The Namers were blanked in a two-game series with the Roslindale Town Club early in the week and tonight face the leaders of the West division. Casey will probably toss Wedemeyer into the fray and Bill Bailey will probably call on Grimley for hurling duties.

Bill Benson takes his St. Augustine Club to Barry field for the second consecutive night, where he will engage the St. Catherine Club; St. Augustine's played the Navy Yard at Barry last night.

At Fens Stadium in the Back Bay, St. Alphonsus A. A. will attempt to maintain a winning streak which embraces five victories in 10 days, at the expense of the South Boston Town Club, but Pilot Ray Coolidge of the City Pointers is going to send McDonough to the hill to prevent this action.

Johnny Kirby will pilot his Navy Yard A. A. cruiser over to Healy Field in Roslindale, where the Town Club will provide the opposition, and in drive to upset the Town Clubbers, he will order Musil to man the Navy pitching guns.
